Etudes préliminaires

Over the past few years, ONDA has made the integration of the environmental component into all its activities one of its priorities in order to demonstrate its strong involvement and positioning in the face of global environmental challenges. As a major player in the aviation sector in Morocco, ONDA aims at being exemplary and ambitious in terms of environmental protection. Globally and on a voluntary basis, ONDA integrates energy efficiency from design to operation throughout the entire process. The new terminals of the airports are designed with modern architecture favoring natural lighting thanks to the presence of glass facades. Also, the implementation of an environmental management system (EMS) in order to reduce and control the environmental impacts of the activity.
